

Board of Variance Applications

North Cowichan is requesting applications for five volunteer positions on North Cowichan's Board of Variance. Board of Variance members are appointed by Council for a 3 year term.

The Board of Variance is an independent body that makes decisions on applications for minor development variances where compliance with regulations would cause undue hardship.

Who should volunteer? Knowledge or experience related to land use planning, building or engineering would be beneficial and typical candidates are retired building contractors, land surveyors, realtors, architects and civil engineers.

If you are interested in becoming a member of North Cowichan's Board of Variance, please go to www.northcowichan.ca.

For questions or to submit a completed application, please contact Alyssa Meiner, Deputy Corporate Officer, via email alyssa.meiner@northcowichan.ca or phone 250-746-3116.

The deadline for completed applications is January 28, 2019.

7030 Trans-Canada Highway | Duncan, BC V9L 6A1
T 250.746.3100 www.northcowichan.ca

